MANY AT LERAL OF AUTO VICTIM

Andrew B. Willingham, Killed at Country Club, Laid to Rest in Hollywood.

CONDUCT INQUEST TO - DAY

Expect to Show Party Speeding. Walker's Condition Unchanged.

The funeral of Andrew B. Willingham, chief buyer for the American Tobacco Company, the victim of the fatal automobile accident at the Country Club of Virginia Tuesday night, took place yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock from his residence, 1401 Grove Avenue. It was largely attended by many friends and business associates, who gathered at the body to Hollywood Cemetery, where the interment was made.

This morning at 10 o'clock Coroner Taylor will begin an inquest into the death of Mr. Willingham, and will make every effort to ascertain the cause of the accident which cost his life, dangerously injured Thomas J. Walker, director of the American Tobacco Company and manager of the Richmond steamers, and hurt four others. Witnesses, it is expected, will testify that the car which turned turtle as it attempted to negotiate the steep, down-grade curve, was traveling at a high rate of speed, variously estimated at from forty to sixty miles an hour. It is understood that persons who saw the big seven-passenger car turn over, remarked prior to the accident, that the turn could not possibly be made at the excessive rate at which it was traveling.

Condition Unchanged. While physicians at St. Luke's Hospital last night stated that Mr. Walker was improving, there was apparently little change in his condition. He was still unconscious. "During the day," one of the attending surgeons said, "Mr. Walker appeared to rally somewhat. Several times he made efforts to speak, but we were unable to understand him. The symptoms of paralysis are gradually disappearing. He has been able to move his right leg and arm. We believe he will recover." It was at first thought that Mr. Walker would have to undergo an operation, but surgeons last night did not believe this step would be necessary. The X-ray photograph failed to disclose any fracture of the skull, and it was said that the patient was evidently suffering from a slight blood clot, which has caused his stupor since the accident.

Effective-Sergeant Wiley, who is in charge of the police investigation of the case, has located numerous witnesses, and they will be present this morning when the inquest is begun at the City Hall. Bernard Jones, an automobile dealer, who makes his home at the Commonwealth Club, was at the accident from the tennis courts at the club. He told the detective that the speed of the automobile was terrific. Other witnesses, it is expected, will testify to the same effect.

Lee Bell, the young chauffeur, who is held responsible for the accident, because he took the outside instead of the inside of the turtle-back roadway, and the other witnesses, who were confined at St. Luke's, is rapidly recovering from his injuries. It was at first thought he was seriously hurt, but careful examination showed him to be all right and unharmed.

All of yesterday and last night friends of Mr. Walker continued to call at the hospital, and much concern was felt as to his condition. While it has been necessary to sustain him by artificial nourishment, all inquiries were assured that his condition was satisfactory.

BLAKE INSANE

Jury Orders Bogus Lord's Commitment to State Asylum. Charles N. W. Blake, alias Patrick Blake, better known as "Lord" Blake, was found by a jury yesterday in the House of Burgesses to be of unsound mind and was ordered committed to a State hospital for the insane. He was called to the attention of the grand jury by a complaint filed by a woman, a handmaiden of the late Lord, who was charged with the murder of her husband. The jury found him to be insane and ordered his commitment to the State hospital for the insane at the asylum for the criminal insane at the State Asylum.

DONATION DAY

Colored Young Women's Christian Association Asking Public Aid. Tomorrow has been set for the annual donation day of the Colored Young Women's Christian Association, at 22 West Lombard Street, and the public is earnestly requested to contribute such articles as clothing, books, china, as well as money and cash. The association, which is a branch of the Y. W. C. A., has been holding a campaign for the past several months, and has been successful in raising a large sum of money for the purchase of a new building. The association is now in need of funds to complete the building, and is asking the public to contribute to the cause.

NEGRO SHOT DOWN

Quarrel Over Woman Ends With John Stanley Being Seriously Wounded. In a quarrel over a woman, John Stanley, colored, thirty years old, was shot and dangerously wounded yesterday morning at 7:30 o'clock in front of his home, 16 Wood Street, Chelsea Hill, by James Davis, colored, of 10 Wood Street. The bullet lodged just above the heart, and the wounded man was rushed to the Virginia Hospital for treatment. His condition was reported last night to be serious. Davis escaped and is being sought by the Henrico police. He was trailed to the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway yards and was subsequently seen on Seventeenth Street. The city police have been asked to assist in finding him.

ORDER DISBANDED FLYING SQUADRON

Cabell's Famous Revenue Band Passes Away With Old Administration.

HAD BECOME UNPOPULAR

Strong-Arm Squad Incurred Enmity of Distillers and Brought Division of Authority.

Former Commissioner Cabell's "Flying Squadron" is no more. The famous band of revenue men was merged with the general service yesterday with the application of an order promulgated by Commissioner Osborne readjusting the boundaries of the revenue district over which Colonel W. H. Chapman is in charge, and assigning J. A. Pierce, head of the squadron, to duty under the local revenue agent. The passing of the "Flying Squadron" is one of the important developments of the change in administration ushered in with the appointment of Commissioner Osborne. Created by former Commissioner Cabell as a special division of the revenue service dedicated to the task of ferreting out and ridding the department of violators of the revenue laws, the squadron at first performed valuable service. It was particularly effective in the unearthing and running down of frauds in Florida.

Unpopular With Distillers. For reasons which are not hard to guess the squadron incurred the enmity of the distillers, and for the past year or two it has traveled a rough road. Its first commander, James Drakeford, gave way to Special Agent Anderson of the local revenue office, who was in turn last February replaced by the appointment of Special Agent J. A. Pierce. Mr. Pierce was in charge until yesterday's dissolution. The squadron's work had more recently been conducted in close cooperation with the regularly designated revenue forces, but as an organization it grew into disfavor with both distillers and revenue men. The rift between the squadron and regular force grew out of the fact that it was pointed by, and responsible only to, the commissioner--a state of affairs which on occasion brought about a sharp division of authority.

Commissioner Osborne, it is reported, was inclined to the belief that the squadron, as a separate unit, was an integral body, and disliked particularly the division of authority it involved. The order which went into effect yesterday, disposing of the problem by assigning the six men who composed the band to duty under the regular agents. The action, it appears, is a satisfactory solution to distillers and revenue men alike.

Has Charge of Virginia. Under the rearrangement of boundaries, Revenue Agent Chapman will direct the charge of the whole State of Virginia, with headquarters in Richmond. Hitherto his district was composed of the Second Revenue District of North Carolina, the Fourth and Fifth North Carolina Districts and the whole State of South Carolina, and by the same order placed under the supervision of Revenue Agent R. B. Sands, with headquarters at Asheville, N. C.

The shifting of boundaries follows an effort on the part of the new administration to consolidate the territory of revenue agents, as far as possible, within State lines. In Virginia the change will be accomplished by a reader transaction, since revenue conditions in the eastern and western parts of the State are much alike.

REFORMATORY IMPROVED

Reports at Annual Meeting Tell of New Building and Reapportionment. Many improvements have been made at the Negro Reformatory during the past year, the annual meeting of the board of trustees, held at the institution, according to the reports of C. P. Cardwell, chairman of the executive committee, and Elizabeth G. Shipper, superintendent, at the annual meeting of the Virginia Association of Prisoners, held at the reformatory yesterday.

A commodious school building, an infirmary and a brick bakery have been added to the reformatory at Hanover during the year. Fences have been repaired, walls raised and other minor improvements made. The health of the children was reported as excellent, and the conduct of the officers and staff as giving satisfaction.

EXPECT ALLAN SOON

Messages From Postmaster Say He Will Leave Hospital This Week. Messages from the postmaster's friends, including Edgar Allan, Jr., state that he has practically recovered from his long illness, and expects to leave the hospital at an early date. He has been under treatment at the hospital of the Mayo Brothers since his illness began in Chicago and Washington. The postmaster has been absent from his duties since November 6, 1912, since which time he has been under treatment in Richmond and Rochester hospitals.

CHANDLER AGAIN HEAD OF SCHOOLS

No Voice Raised in Opposition to His Re-Election by Board for New Term.

Not the slightest note of opposition has been voiced at any time to the State Board of Education against Dr. J. A. Chandler, who was yesterday morning unanimously re-elected superintendent of schools for the city of Richmond, for the term of four years, beginning July 1. No one contested the office with him, nor was there any protest against his selection for another term. Dr. Chandler's friends are much pleased with the situation, considering the fact that when he took office four years ago there was much criticism of the board and not a little indignation, seeing that another man had been generally endorsed by the people of the city, and Dr. Chandler had hardly been thought of in that connection.

Many schoolhouses have been built and others repaired during his incumbency, while school people generally speak in the warmest terms of his methods of instruction and of handling teachers. Julian Carroll Chandler was born at Guiney's, Caroline County, October 29, 1872, the son of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Chandler. He was educated at Guilford College, where he graduated with the degree of bachelor of arts in 1891, and, pursuing his studies, received the master of arts degree the following year. He then attended Johns Hopkins University, in Baltimore, where he won the degree of doctor of philosophy in 1896. Richmond College conferred upon him the degree of doctor of laws in 1904.

His educational work has been extensive. He was instructor in history and English in William and Mary College while working for the master's degree, and principal of the public school at Houston, Va., in 1892-3. Instructor in Morgan College, Baltimore, 1894-6. He became professor of history and dean of the Virginia Journal of Education in 1896, and professor of history and literature in the College of Richmond in 1896, serving until 1899, after which for one session he was acting president of that school. From 1899 to 1900 he taught also in the College of William and Mary, in Richmond College, being acting professor of history and literature until 1904. For his last two years at Richmond College he was dean of the faculty of Richmond Academy.

From 1904 to 1907 Dr. Chandler was editor for Silver, Burdett & Company, publishers, and then for two years was editor of the Virginia Journal of Education. For one more session he was professor of English in Richmond College, and held that position when, in 1910, he was elected city superintendent by the State Board of Education. He lectures in the summer school at the University of Virginia, and was director of history and education at the Jamestown Exposition. He is the author of "Representation in Virginia," "History of Suffrage in Virginia," and "Makers of Virginia, Historical and Geographical," and "Makers of American History."

Fined for Profanity. Albie Leber, Thomas Crowder and George and Gleason Martin were arraigned in Police Court yesterday morning on the charge of being disorderly and using profane language in the street. Leber and Crowder were fined $5 each, and Gleason Martin $10 and costs each. Gleason Martin noted an appeal to the Hustings Court.

REWARD OUT FOR ARREST OF WARE

Will Pay $200 for Arrest and Conviction of Negro Who Assaulted Officer R. W. Bendall. For the arrest and conviction of Charles Ware, colored, twenty-five years old, who murderously assaulted Officer R. W. Bendall, of Henrico County, early Tuesday morning, the Commonwealth of Virginia and the City of Richmond Association of Westphalia will jointly pay a reward of $200. This offer was made yesterday, and stands good for four months. Posters and circulars will be sent throughout the State to-day.

The search for the two remaining Ware brothers was continued yesterday, but in spite of the excellent clues upon which the police were working, no trace of the fugitives was found. Believing that some light can be thrown on the movements of the men by Robert Byrd, colored, at whose home young Walter Ware was in hiding the two nights before he surrendered, he was taken into custody yesterday afternoon by Officer Shoemaker. Together with Charles Byrd, colored, in the theft of the automobile which led to the arrest of the Ware brothers and the subsequent assault by them on Officer Bendall.

Walter Ware, sixteen years old, was arraigned before Justice Crutchfield yesterday morning in Police Court, and held for trial May 24. He protests his innocence, and places the blame on his elder brother, Charles, for whom the reward is offered. The pressure got too great for Walter, and he surrendered. Felony warrants have been sworn out against the trio.

Charles and Cornelius Ware are thought to be in the neighborhood of their home, near Brems Bluff, Fluvanna County, and a close watch is being kept on them there. Detectives made several trips yesterday, but gained no information of value. The negroes are penniless, and it is thought that they will be driven from cover by hunger. It is on this theory that the police base their hope of capturing them.

ATTORNEYS ARGUE POWER LINE CASE

Six Speeches Made on Chesterfield Situation by Lawyers Before Commission.

Argument was had yesterday before the State Corporation Commission in the case of James Bellwood and other citizens of Chesterfield County against the Seaboard Air Line Railway Company and the Virginia Railway and Power Company. Three attorneys on a side spoke, beginning at 10 o'clock. At the conclusion of the speaking, the commission took the case under advisement, for decision later.

Testimony was taken three weeks ago, and it was then decided that there was such a large quantity of expert evidence that it would be best to have the lawyers wait for the stenographic report and digest it prior to argument. Willis B. Smith, Judge J. M. Gregory and James W. Gordon appeared for Bellwood and others. The case for the Seaboard Air Line was argued by Randolph Williams, while Henry W. Anderson and A. B. Gulson appeared for the Virginia Railway and Power Company.

It is contended by the Chesterfield people that certain high power electric transmission lines erected between Richmond and Petersburg by the Virginia Railway and Power Company on the right of way of the Seaboard, are dangerous to life and property, by reason of being highly charged with electricity, and that in storms or by accident the current would be disastrous. The defense is that the line is approved construction, and that by no reasonable possibility can any damage result to the people of the county. The line was built for the transmission of power between the two cities.

What America Needs. America needs a moral cleansing. She needs a strong wind of righteousness to blow from border to border. She needs to have all the low ideals of self-seeking greed swept out to sea. Less of the religion of sentiment, more of the religion of plain honesty. Many thousands in America are already sound in their principles and honorable in their practices. BOND ISSUE WINS IN HIGHLAND PARK

Though Vote Was Small, It Was Two to One in Favor of Improvements.

By a vote of fifty-seven to twenty-eight, a bond issue of $50,000 for permanent improvements was carried yesterday in Highland Park. In spite of the interest displayed several weeks ago, the election was the quietest the town has had since it was incorporated. Less than one-third of the voters went to the polls.

The issue will be floated at once. Since the call for the election was made one month ago, many inquiries concerning the bonds have been received, and it is expected that there will be no difficulty in disposing of the entire issue at a slight premium. The town, with the new bonds, will be $32,000 under the amount it is authorized to borrow by law. The revenues are sufficient to enable the Council to make provision for a sinking fund to retire the bonds and still have a slight balance at the end of the year without an increase in the tax rate.

Plans are being made by members of the Council to begin improvements at once. It is their intention to lay more sidewalks and to put down better streets. The grades are all excellent, but it is expected that there will be sufficient money to macadamize the main thoroughfares. The improvements have been needed for some time, and when they are completed the town will be one of the best suburbs around Richmond.

Fifteen new houses are under construction at this time, and plans for several others have been made. A fine supply of water will be available in a few weeks from the artesian well that is being sunk. The depth of the well is now 600 feet, and a flow of more than seventy-five gallons an hour is recorded. The Henrico Gas Company is laying pipes through the town and will be ready to supply all corners before July 1.

REV. D. CLAY LILLY RECEIVES A CALL

Pastor of Grace Street Presbyterian Church Wanted by Laymen's Movement.

The Rev. D. Clay Lilly, D. D., pastor of the Grace Street Presbyterian Church, has received a call from the executive committee of the Laymen's Missionary Movement of the United States and Canada to become one of the conference leaders in the great United Missionary Campaign, which is to be inaugurated next fall. The position being one of much importance and influence, offers a larger scope for ministerial endeavor than an individual pastorate, and for this reason is expected to appeal strongly to Mr. Lilly.

No indication has been given by Dr. Lilly as to what his answer to the call of the executive committee will be, but he has made up his mind or not, no one can say, but his reply will not be made public until he has presented the matter to the session of his church. He was called from work with the Laymen's Missionary Movement in 1909 to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the Rev. Jesse Witherspoon, D. D., the late pastor of the Grace Street Presbyterian Church.

Previous to coming to Richmond, Dr. Lilly had been in charge of the Southern division of the Laymen's Missionary Movement National Campaign. The campaign to be undertaken next fall will be under the joint supervision of the Conference of Foreign Mission Boards of North America and the Home Mission Council of the United States. It is to continue through five years. The executive committee of the Laymen's Missionary Movement will take general charge of the organization and direction of the interdenominational convention and conference features of this united campaign.

The campaign contemplates the increasing of the contributions of the North American churches to Home and Foreign Missionary work up to $50,000,000 annually. It also aims at the education of the church at large to a real belief in the possibility of the evangelization of the world in this generation.

Had Razors Fined $100. Walter Lacy, colored, was fined $100 and costs and put under $100 bond for twelve months yesterday morning in Police Court for carrying a concealed weapon, a razor. Lacy was arrested on the charge of trespassing on the property of the Southern Railway when he searched at the First Police Station the razor was found in his possession.
